Prayer Requests & Praises:

- We have seen God accomplish so much this year! Hope Radio is broadcasting in local languages and sharing the hope that only God can give.
- There have been daily opportunities to display God's love and grace to a broken world.
- The malaria season has continued to be a brutal one claiming the lives of countless children over the course of the past 5 months.
- We are absolutely thrilled to see how God is building His kingdom even in areas where we are unable to go!
- It is difficult to keep a supply of antivenin in stock given the number of victims each week from snake bites. We are thankful for many of you who have contributed to our antivenin fund which allows to subsidize the cost of snake bite treatments.

Who Should Read Theology? From Basic Theology by Charles C. Ryrie

Theology is for everyone. Indeed, everyone needs to be a theologian. In reality, everyone is a theologian—of one sort or another.

Theology simply means thinking about God and expressing those thoughts in some way. In this basic sense everyone is a theologian. Even an atheist has a theology.

Your thoughts, however scattered or systematized are about the living God, the only true God who exists. Because this is so, there is all the more reason for you to study theology.

All the time and energy you give to thinking about the true God will not only expand your mind but affect your life.

Believers in the true God recognize that they also have to be accountable to Him.

Good theologians come in many shapes.

The phrase "sound doctrine" that Paul used means healthy doctrine (e.g., 2 Tim. 4:3; Titus 1:9). Healthy doctrine or healthy theology is always expected to result in holy living. When Paul prayed for churches, he prayed for an increase in knowledge, for he realized that this would produce holy living (e.g., Phil. 1:9-11; Col. 1:9-10). Healthy theology is expressed not only in creed but in fruitful living, and holy living must be based on healthy theology.

How theology affects my life or your life is our personal and individual responsibility. But to conform our lives to the image of Christ is the ultimate goal in studying theology. Yet in the final analysis no book can do that. Only God and you can.
